The International Students and Scholars Services Office (ISSS) is required by law to verify that international students have sufficient funding for their first year of study - including tuition, fees and cost of living (see estimated costs below). To verify this amount of financial support, ISSS must see evidence of financial resources from personal, family, sponsor, UC Merced, government or other organization. The student must submit this form, a bank statement or letter in English dated no older than 6 months verifying the minimum required funding in US dollars as noted below.
