FAQS

What if my degree completion date is delayed after I apply for OPT?

Undergraduate students can continue with OPT application if they failed a course or due to unforeseen circumstances and need to take another course. If full-time registration is needed, an undergraduate student must cancel their OPT application and can reapply 90 days before the end of their next semester. The USCIS filing fee will not be refunded.

Graduate students with only dissertation/thesis remaining have two options:

Option 1

Continue with OPT application and file for Filing Fee Status for the next term. Students do not enroll in courses during Filing Fee Status and they DO NOT qualify for an academic or student appointment.

Option 2

Withdraw pending OPT application and register for next semester. Can reapply for OPT 90 days before the end of the next term.
